

"Impromptu" Takes Play Contest

ROTC Initiates New Brigade Drill Procedure

In keeping with the changing pace of today's modern army, the Loyola College R.O.T.C. brigade has abolished that time-honored institution known as drill. Cadets will no longer be required to spend two hours every Wednesday afternoon on the parade ground.

Beginning at 3 o'clock, March 7, all cadets will become familiar with one of the many innovations being instituted in the Loyola brigade during the present "step-up" of the R.O.T.C. program--and this will certainly be a welcome change, both from the point of view of cadets and the cadre. This innovation is Leadership Laboratory. This is not simply a new name. It's an entirely new concept. It will eliminate one of the major objections on the part of cadets concerning R. O. T. C.

Leader Lab

Probably one of the most unique features of Leadership Laboratory is that each platoon will have its own classroom in which to conduct a written quiz and administrative affairs. Twenty minutes will be spent in this platoon classroom.

In accordance with the current trend towards physical fitness, cadets will be provided with a one hour period on the parade ground during which they will put into practice the various items learned from FM 22-5. At 4:45 P.M. they will be dismissed.

Leadership Laboratory, with the co-operation of all cadets, promises to be a welcome change in the R.O.T.C. program at Loyola.

College Poetry

The American College Poetry Society is pleased to announce its semesterly anthology of college poetry. Automation

On March 8 at 3 P.M., Seymour Wolfbein, the Assistant Secretary of Labor, will speak on "Automation" in Xavier Lounge.

Last Saturday evening Loyola College captured cup at the annual Jesuit One Act Play Festival held at Trinity Theatre in Georgetown. The latest victory was with "Impromptu" by Tad Mosel. Besides Loyola, Georgetown University, Wheeling College, St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia and Scranton University presented plays. The last time Loyola won was in 1955 with a play called "The Emperor's Doll."

Loyola's effort was extremely well done. Given a good play, the four actors performed deftly. The whole play was marked with control and understanding of character as is seldom seen in college theatre.

Best Actress

Particular commendation must be given to Carol McKewin whose performance was superb. Miss McKewin alone was singled out by the judges for an acting award for special merit. A Mt. St. Agnes freshman, she has very limited experience on the stage. Despite this handicap, she is capable of an extremely high quality performance.

Ron Yakaitis also did a much more than competent job. His power enabled and enhanced Miss McKewin's performance.

Dave Crocco and Nancy Monroe were somewhat more weak than the above mentioned. Dave, although he understood his character well enough, had some difficulty with voice projection and as a result, lost some of his lines. Miss Monroe also did not project her voice sufficiently to be heard throughout the theatre.

Second Place

Scranton placed second with its most interesting presentation of "Til' Eulenspiegel's Treasure." St. Joseph's presentation, "Kiss Me Kool," an original musical, placed third. It was well done but suffered because of its length.

Glee Club To Travel To Staten Island, N.Y.

By Bill Legg, Asst. News Editor

Tomorrow, March 3, Loyola College Glee Club will leave by bus for Staten Island, New York to perform in a joint concert Notre Dame, Staten Island. This is the Glee Club's first out of town concert of the semester. Several other appearances, all joint concerts, are scheduled also. These will be in Philadelphia, Virginia, Washington D. C., and Maryland.

Pop Concert

On March 24, the group will give a "Pop Concert" with Villa Julie College at Evergreen. They will also sing with Rosemount College in Philadelphia, Marymount College in Virginia and Mount Saint Agnes in Baltimore.

Program

The program in New York will include: Randall Thompson's musical adaptation of Hillaire Belloc's "Tarantell," a clever, melodic, Spanish song with an exciting tempo; Mozart's "Te Deum;" and several selection from Brahms' "Liebes-leider Waltzes." Other selections will be "Aura Lee," a ballad; "Songs from the Karad;" "Jubilate Deo" and a favorite of the club members, "Ride the Chariot. The concert will start at 8 o'clock p.m.

The mothers of the club members will sponsor a party tonight at 8:30 in the Student Union Building to raise funds for the trips. Everyone is invited to attend this affair.

ASN Holds Symposium

On Monday, March 5, Alpha Sigma Nu will conduct a symposium of faculty and seniors for the purpose of aiding the freshman and sophomore students in the choice of their major. There will be no classes for the freshmen and sophomores, but their attendance at the activities will be required.

Schedule

The day's program will be as follows:

9:00-10:00: Addresses by Fr. Galvin, Fr. Campbell, and Mr. Moritz.

10:00-11:20: Social Science Symposium

11:30-12:30: Business Symposium

12:30-1:30: Lunch

1:30-3:00: Physical Science Symposium

3:00-4:00: Refreshments in Student Union Building

Faculty and Seniors

Each symposium will consist of talks by a faculty chairman and a senior ASN member or senior of high academic excellence in the respective majors. After all departmental majors of the symposium have been presented, the student chairman of the panel will open the floor to questions.

Realizing the acute need for guidance in the choosing of a major, Fred Benson, and ASN member of the class of 1961, proposed that such a program be initiated. Through similar ideas of various faculty members, the nascent plan has come to fruition. This is due to the enthusiasm and willingness of the Administration to grant a full day for the program, with refreshments at the close, and to the generous support of the participating Seniors.

Letter To The Editor

Congratulations for the Greyhound's editorial of last week. The cultivation of more informal support between instructor and pupil is a problem which deserves the serious attention of the students, because the student council is limited only to offering motivation to the sometimes unresponsive student body.

The editorial was very favorably accepted by a number of the faculty; this is indicative of their willingness to cooperate with the students if so much as an informal invitation is offered. The need for this invitation cannot be overstressed. The privacy of the student is as sacred as the privacy of the instructor, and the faculty is adverse to interrupting the student, but very favorable to joining him, at an informal lunch in the cafeteria.

The student body has received your editorial with more hesitation. Students favor the idea, but are too often embarrassed in the presence of the faculty by the actions of their fellows. I sympathize with these students. The table manners of the majority of the students and perhaps even the language and high school attitudes of a good number are no source of pride to Loyola College, its faculty, and the small minority of serious students.

Perhaps the good example of a few serious students, however, will be inspiration to the more barbaric among us. But the good example must be forthcoming.

Urging you to continue your campaign, I remain

Yours,
John W. Baynes

Editor's Note: We would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Baynes for the interest which he has exhibited concerning our recent editorial. Surely, such interest is what stimulates the Greyhound into acting on the behalf of the student body in matters which concern them.

The Greyhound welcomes its readers to submit any opinions which they may have regarding our editorial policy. It is only in this way that we can gather the general reaction of the student body to our proposals.

B-Ball and Business

George Yurek

George Yurek is one of the many men of Loyola who contributes so much, but because of a modest, retiring disposition, he does not often occupy the spotlight. George came to Loyola College in 1958 from Loyola High school. Becoming an active member of the life of Loyola, he began a successful career as a student and an athlete. George has been close to the Dean's List during the semesters he

When asked about this, George replied that an elbow was forced into his mouth, and naturally, George bit it.

Cup Confidence

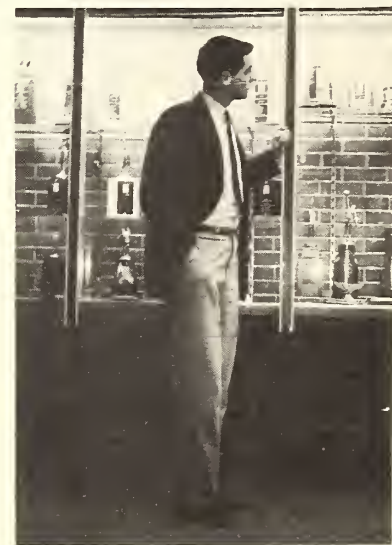

One of his team mates described George as a "real hustling ball-player." George attributes the success of the team to "new material, spirit and a great coach." He says that One Act Play Trophy will not be the only new addition to Loyola this month. The basketball team expects to bring another cup home next week.

As a member of the John Berchman's Society, George serves Mass one morning a week and also observes that students take less advantage of the opportunity than outsiders.

George hopes that the B-Bailers can add the 1962 conference trophy to the present cache.

George will be graduated this June with a degree in Accounting. He has some long range plans, starting with a march down the aisle on September 8, and beginning a career as a C.P.A. or beginning in management. With his background in sports, and the satisfaction he received as a camp counselor, George would someday like to continue working with youngsters as a coach. We wish him luck, success, and happiness.

Swimmers Down Cardinals In Season's Final Meet

The Loyola natators have ended their dual meet season, and today begin the Mason-Dixon championship tournament. This tournament will mark the last competition as Loyola swimmers for seniors Vic Corbin, Jim Sydnor, and Jerry Preis. Each of the three ended the dual meet season quite auspiciously--each with at least one first place in their 70-25 rout of C.U. last Saturday.

Corbin, perhaps the most outstanding diver in recent Loyola annals, set a new pool record of 70.88 points in winning his farewell diving performance. Sydnor placed first in the 200 yd. individual medley, and Preis was first in the 220 yd. freestyle, and each swam a leg in the victorious 400 yd. freestyle relay.

Four other first-place contributors were: Freimuth--200 yd. breaststroke; Brooks--100 yd. freestyle; Kubelius--440 yd. freestyle; and Doyle--200 yd. backstroke.

Earlier in the week, the mermen torpedoed William and Mary, 57-38, in the Loyola pool. Ken Freimuth assured the Loyola victory by winning two events, and aiding in a third. Ken broke his own pool record in the 200 yd. breaststroke with 2:27.5. He also won the individual medley, and swam a leg in the 400 yd. medley relay. Tippy Cronin broke Marty Pilsch's pool record of 2:22.6 in the 200 yd. butterfly with a 2:21.2 Joe Doyle, Vic Corbin, and Charlie Brooks also took first places.

Basketball

The Mavericks, Dukes, Porky Pigs, and Polar Bears were all winners in last weeks intramural basketball play. Egan hit for twelve as the Mavericks edged the Huggers 39-37, and George Schroeder's 25 points for the Dukes was the deciding factor in their 44 to 25 victory. Cashour and Gunkel led the Porky Pigs to a 52 to 49 victory over the Bombers. Polar Bears won by forfeit from the Champs in the final game.

Loyola Hoopsters Defeat Washington In Overtime

by Bob Schu

The Greyhounds were extended to overtime for the 2nd time this year before edging visiting Washington College by a 77-74 score in their season's finale. Freshman Marty Maher and Junior Charlie O'Donnell were the heroes of this one. Maher hit for his season high with 22 points, including two clutch foul shots which sent the game into overtime. But it was the daring ball stealing of defensively brilliant Charlie O'Donnell that enabled the Hounds to come out on top of a much-too-close game.

'B' Cagers End With .500 Log

On Wednesday, February 14, the Hound B squad traveled down Charles Street to visit the rival Blue Jays in the Hopkins Gym. There was no doubt about the outcome of this tilt from the beginning. By halftime the score was 47-29 with the little Hounds in the lead, and they returned to finish the game with an 82-64 margin. Freshman Mike McCarthy paced the Hounds with 27 points.

For the entire season the team played .500 basketball, winning five and dropping five. The victories were over Bullis Prep, Baltimore Institute, Eastern College, Boys Latin, and Hopkins. Jim Mohler saw considerable action as playmaker, and outside with him were Jimmy Coyle and Gene Lacey, and the rebounding honors went to Mike McCarthy and Billy Morris.

John Kilkenny, George Yurek, and team captain Tony Torba made their final regular-season appearance in a Loyola uniform in this game. Torba, a product of Dundalk High School, has improved with every game this season and has borne the rebounding brunt of the team admirably.

John Kilkenny is the possessor of a deadly jump shot and exceptional leaping ability. John has always come through when called upon.

George Yurek, outstanding student and athlete, is one of the most aggressive members of the team. His hustle and never-say-die attitude has won him the respect of his team-mates and coaches.

Hound Grapplers Win First Dual Meet M-D Title

Last Thursday afternoon, the Hound wrestlers clinched the Mason-Dixon dual meet championship by a 37-0 shutout victory over Catholic University. The win made Loyola's record 5-1 on the season.

In taking the match, the Hounds won every individual weight class. Loyola's victors were Bish Baker, Buck McCarthy, Butch Emmett, Alex Schlipp, Mike Buckness, Tom Milligan, Colin Delpi, Len Eiswert, and Charley Graham. Highlight matches were the 130 pound and heavyweight classes. In the former, Buck McCarthy pinned his opponent in the record time of 32 seconds; in the heavyweight class, Charley Graham pinned a rival who outweighed him by 70 pounds. Senior Mike Buckness, in his final dual meet appearance, had an easy victory--by forfeit!

Today, Loyola's grapplers will begin their bid for the Mason-Dixon mat title, which is being contested at Hopkins. The Hounds, along with A.U. and B.U., are among the favorite teams.

Al Schlipp, Hound's 137 lb. champ.
